

Rain Song (©2003 Music & Lyrics by Thomas Krug)

Standing in the rain on my way to no land

Carrying the ashes of my life

Trying all in vain to believe in myself

Feeling that it makes no sense to strive

Fog all around me, cannot see the sky

Misty cold grey shadows on my way

Nowhere shines a light for me, a hopeful heartening sign

Forlorn hope forever and a day

Oh, I lost all my love in the rain

Will I ever be a searcher again

Looking back the years long past they're lost in gloomy space

Cannot find a sign where I came from

Rise my head to see the stars that shine on heaven's gate

Raindrops falling down on me instead

Whispering voices telling me to leave it all behind

Wishing me to put it to an end

Hardly feel the breath of wind seems gentle on my mind

Blowing softly ashes on the land

Oh, I lost all my love in the rain

Will I ever be a searcher again

Oh, I lost all my love in the rain

Will I ever be a searcher again
